

Summer School Programme

Body & Mind... Bedfellows?

SATURDAY JUNE 30 and SUNDAY JULY 1 Cost: £100 / £25 Students

Garrod Building, The Blizard Institute, Queen Mary University of London
Turner St, Whitechapel. London E1 2AD

Aim of the weekend: to consider the value of psychoanalytical principles in clinical practice. A discussion forum between healthcare professionals and psychoanalysts, with plenty of opportunities for interactive participation.

Who this is for: the Summer School is for members and students of the medical, nursing and caring professions e.g. doctors, social workers, occupational therapists and psychologists, research scientists and anyone interested in the intricacies of the human mind.

Saturday: Focus on The interaction of Mind and Body in clinical practice

9.30: Registration

9.45-10.45: Introducing Psychoanalysis.

David Morgan, Psychoanalyst and former Clinical Psychologist.

To speak for half an hour and invite discussion.

10.45-11.15: Coffee break

11.15-12.30: Mind in Body, Body in mind. Presentation by Dr Gill Baker, former GP, Psychoanalyst.

12.30-1.30: Lunch

1.30-3pm: Does the body keep the score? Presentation by Mr Ioannis Goutos, Consultant Plastic Surgeon with specialist interest in scar management - followed by panel discussion with a Psychoanalyst.

3-3.15: Short break

3.15-4.45: Small discussion groups

Sunday: The establishment of Mind and Body relationship in the journey of life

10-11.00: Documentary film: Help me love my baby. Channel 4 documentary, presented by Ju Tomas-Merrills, Psychoanalyst with a special interest in mothers and babies.

11-11.30 Coffee break

11.30-1pm: The Use and Misuse of the Body. Presentation and discussion by Stan Ruzsyczynski, Psychoanalyst and Forensic Psychotherapist, former Director of the Portman Clinic.

1-2pm: Lunch

2-4pm Work Discussion Groups